

If our federal government cares so little about its citizens as to permit unwanted and intrusive calls to our private homes, then please, require that with each call there should be a personal visit by the telemarketer to the residence they call. That will permit me to give each of them a swift kick in the ass as they hobble down my drive way. Their surly avarice deserves no less. Otherwise leave our Wisconsin No Call List law alone. It works, more than you do.
